Robert C. Weaver and Patricia Roberts Harris

FIRST BLACK CABINET MEMBER

- 1.) December 29, 1907 – July 17, 1997
- 2.) Weaver received his B.A. and Ph.D. in economics from Harvard University.
- 3.) Throughout the New Deal era, Weaver served as an advisor on minority affairs in a number of federal agencies.
- 4.) In 1944, Weaver became director of the Commission on Race Relations in the Office of the Mayor of Chicago.
- 5.) In 1960, he became vice chairman of the New York City Housing and Redevelopment Board.
- 6.) The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) was created in September 1965, and Weaver became its first secretary the following January -- thereby becoming the first African-American appointed to a cabinet position.
- 7.) In 1969, after serving under President Johnson, Weaver became president of Baruch College. In 1970, Weaver became a distinguished professor of Urban Affairs at Hunter College in New York and taught there until 1978.

FIRST BLACK FEMALE CABINET MEMBER

- 1.) May 31, 1924—March 23, 1985
- In 1943, she participated in one of the nation's first lunch counter sit-ins.
- 2.) She graduated from Howard University and the law school at George Washington University.
- 3.) In 1963, President John F. Kennedy appointed her co-chairman of the National Women's Committee for Civil Rights.
- 4.) Serving as U.S. ambassador to Luxembourg from 1965 to 1967, she was the first African American woman to hold ambassadorial rank.
- 5.) From January 1977 to August 1979, she was the first African American woman to serve in the United States Cabinet as Secretary of HUD, and the first to enter the line of succession to the Presidency.
- 6.) Patricia Roberts Harris served as Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.'s first Executive Director. In January 2000, she was honored on the 23rd commemorative stamp in the United States Postal Service's Black Heritage Series. Additionally, In 2003, Harris was inducted into the National Women's Hall of Fame.

1) HBCUS DELIVER HIGHER RETURNS AT A LOWER COST. Today, the nation's 106 HBCUs make up just 3 percent of America's colleges and universities, yet they produce almost 20 percent of all African American graduates and 25 percent of African American graduates in the STEM.

2) THEY MEET THE NEEDS OF LOW-INCOME, FIRST-GENERATION STUDENTS. More than 70 percent of all students at HBCUs qualify for federal Pell Grants and 80 percent of HBCU students receive federal loans.

3) THE LOWER COSTS OF TUTION AND FEES HELP TO NARROW THE RACIAL WEALTH GAP. By providing a best value in education, HBCUs help to eliminate or reduce student debt for low-to middle-income families, which could dramatically narrow the racial wealth gap between black and white households.

4) THE CAMPUS CLIMATE FOSTERS SUCCESS. The Gallup-Purdue poll noted that black graduates of HBCUs are significantly more likely to have felt supported while in college and to be thriving afterward than their black peers who graduated from predominantly white institutions.

5) THEY ADDRESSES THE NATION'S UNDER- AND UNEMPLOYMENT CRISIS. The nation needs HBCUs now more than ever given their proven track record of influencing the academic success of African Americans.

6) HBCUS OFFER A TRUE VALUE/VALUES PROPOSITION. HBCUs are rooted in faith, community and service. Black churches have long been pillars of the black community and the history and life of black colleges are closely intertwined with faith, values and service to others; they are a great value to their students, but they also produce students with great values.

For more than 100 years, HBCUs have been educating minorities, giving them economic opportunities and instilling great values. Not only have they consistently produced leaders in their communities and across the nation, but HBCUs today are consistently and affordably producing the leaders of the future.

COVID-19 VACCINE INFORMATION-WHO CHOOSES WHO GETS VACCINATED FIRST

Tarrant County Public Health is now receiving shipments of the COVID-19 vaccine.

As directed by the Texas Department of State Health Services, Tarrant County Public Health; along with other Texas-based health entities, is providing vaccinations in phases. Vaccine appointments will first go to those most at risk of catching, spreading or dying from COVID-19. The initial groups are called Phase 1A and 1B (see below). If you are eligible, please sign up and you will be assigned an appointment as vaccine becomes available.

If you are not eligible at this time, you can still sign up and we will assign you a group as the State announces other phases. If you show up without an appointment, you will be turned away.

Click here to register for an appointment:

<https://www.tarrantcounty.com/en/public-health/disease-control---prevention/COVID-19/COVID-19-Vaccine.html>
